King. Heere, with a cup that's ſtur'd unto thē brim,
As you doe love, fill to your Miſtreſſe lips,
We drinke this health to you.
Knights. We thanke your Grace.
King. Yet pauſe a while; yon Knight doth ſit too melancholy,
As if the entertainement in our Court,
Had not a ſhew might countervaile his worth:
Note it not you, Thaiſa?
Thai. What is't to me my father?
King. O attend my daughter,
Princes in this, ſhould live like gods above,
Who freely give to every one that comes to honour thēm:
And Princes not doing ſo, are like to Gnats,
Which make a ſound, but kild, are wondered at:
Therefore to makē his enterancē more ſweet,
Heere, ſay wē drinke this ſtanding boule of winē to him.
Thai. Alas my father, it befits not me,
Vnto a ſtranger Knight to be ſo bold,
He may my proffer take for an offence,
Since men take womens gifts for impudencē.
King. How? doe as I bid you, or you'l move mē elſe.
Thai. Now by the gods, he could not pleaſe me better.
King. And furthermore tell him, we deſire to know of him,
Of whencē he is, his namē and Parentage.
Thai. The King my father (ſir) hath drunke to you.
Per. I thankē him.
Thai. Wiſhing it ſo much bloud unto your life,
Per. I thanke both him and you, and pledge him freely.
Thai. And further hē deſirēs to know of you,
Of whence you are. your name and parentage.
Per. A gentle man of Tyre, my name Pericles,
My education beene in Arts and Armes.
Who looking for adventures in the world,
Was by the rough-ſeaes reft of ſhips and men,
And after ſhip-wracke, driven upon this ſhore.
Thai. He thankes your Grace; names himſelfe Pericles,
A gentleman of Tyre, who onely by misfortune of the ſeas,

Bereft

Bereft of ſhips and men, caſt on thē ſhore.
King. Now by the gods I pitty his misfortunē,
And will awakē him from his melancholy.
Come gentlemen, we ſit too long on trifles,
And waſte the time, which lookes for other revels.
Even in your armours as you arē addreſt,
Will well become a Souldiers dance:
I will not have excuſe, with ſaying that
Lowd muſicke is too harſh for Ladies heads,
Since they love men in Armes, as well as beds.
They dance.
So, this was well asked, t'was ſo well performdē,
Come ſir, heere's a Lady that wants breathing too:
And I havē heard you Knights of Tyre,
Are excellent in making Ladies trip,
And that their meaſures arē as excellent.
Per. In thoſe that practiſe them, they are (my Lord)
King. O that's as much, as you would be denied,
Of your fairē courtēſie: unclaſpe, unclaſpe.
They dance.
Thankes gentlemen to all; all have donē well,
But you the beſt: Pages and Lights, to conduct
Theſe Knights unto their ſeverall Lodgings:
Yours ſir, we have given order be next our ownē.
Per. I am at your Graces pleaſure.
King. Princes, it is too late to talkē of love,
And that's the marke I know you levell at:
Therefore each one betake him to his reſt,
To morrow, all for ſpeeding doe their beſt.

Enter Hellicanes and Eſcanes.

Hell. No Eſcanes, know this of me,
Antiochus from inceſt lived not free:
For which the moſt high gods not minding
Longer to with-hold the vengeance that
They had in ſtore, due to this haynous
Capitall offence; even in the height and pride

Of